

The reliability is low and so the program contains numerous faults. Consequently, the no. of failures per unit time is high.

The reliability is high and so the program exhibits fewer failures. Consequently the no. of failures per unit time is lower.

Time (hrs)